Who we are...

Critical Insights Consulting LLC, provides a unique and innovative insight into how to build better teams, relationships, critical thinkers, communicators, problem solvers, and ultimately better leaders. We provide insight into how you think and behave. What makes you tick, what motivates you, so "You" can do "You" Better.

Why we are different...

One thing that is common across all disciplines, cultures, demographics, etc, is that companies, groups, businesses don't behave, People do. The organization is just a label that represents the people who make up the organization. When the rubber meets the road, and you peel the onion back, individuals make up teams, teams make up departments, departments make up divisions, and divisions make up organizations. Without each individual there are no teams, departments, divisions, or organizations.

LIFE COACHING

Life Coaching is one of Critical Insights' Key Services. Individuals are given an opportunity to learn more about who they are and how they think and behave. In addition, the insight goes one step further by providing the individual life skills they can utilize immediately to better navigate through life.

BEHAVIORAL MODELING

Model individual behavioral attributes over time in order to predict future behavior: Using data mining and business intelligence. The primary focus is on where the individual should and could be versus where they are and have been.

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

Our Leadership Development arm focuses on aspects of Leadership:

- Executive Coaching
- Character Leadership
- Servant Leadership
- Talent Management
- Succession Planning

Each area is comprised of Relationship Building, Critical Thinking, Problem Solving, Conflict Management, Effective Communication, Work Prioritization and Time Management.

Our Culture

Treating each individual the way you want to be treated by taking the time to understand who you are, where you want to go, and helping you get there.
